

GROUP A

EARLY IMPRINTS AND PRIVATE PUBLICATIONS

1768 - 1954

INTRODUCTION

This group comprises (1) early imprints issued in Mauritius, both private and official, and inclusive of leaflets and broadsides (but exclusive of almanacs, periodicals and newspapers which are listed in group B), from the introduction of printing in 1768 to the end of French rule in 1810 ; (2) private non-serial publications issued from 1811 to the end of 1954 (serial publications for the same period being listed in group B).

The main source utilized for early imprints was the unpublished catalogue of early Mauritian imprints which forms the supplement to Dr. Toussaint's main work on that subject published in Paris in 1951 under the title : Early printing in the Mascarene Islands.

Several additional specimens were traced in the Archives Nationales, in Paris, especially in series AF III : Collection Moreau de St. Méry and Colonies : Fonds Rodde, Ile de France, in the private library of M. Auguste Brunet, at Toulon, and in the John Carter Brown Library, in the United States.

The total number of entries recorded amounts to 426. There are also 27 entries in group B for the almanacs, periodicals and newspapers for the period 1769-1810.

The entries are recorded in full and listed in chronological order of issue. In the case of broadsides the dimensions are given in cms. The location is also given in brackets at the end of each entry. With a few exceptions, entries were made from the imprints themselves.

The material is available in the following repositories :

- Archives Nationales (Paris)
- Auguste Brunet Library (Toulon)
- Bibliothèque Nationale (Paris)
- British Museum (London)
- Curepipe Carnegie Library (Mauritius)
- Doyen Collection (Mauritius)
- John Carter Brown Library (U. S. A.)
- Mauritius Archives Department
- Mauritius Supreme Court Library
- Public Record Office (London)

Of these the most important is the Mauritius Archives whose collection was recently enriched by the gift of the imprints in the Doyen Collection presented in 1953 by the Leclézio family.

On the beginnings of printing in Mauritius little need be said here since the subject has been fully studied in Dr. Toussaint's book, and it will suffice to note that the printing record of this island for 1768-1810, which is listed here in full for the first time, is quite remarkable in the history of colonial printing, especially when it is compared with that of other countries of the Indian Ocean.

Apart from their purely bibliographical interest the early imprints recorded here and in group B are also of main importance for the student of Mauritius under French rule.

For the years 1811-1954 the only source available was the series of quarterly Memoranda of books printed in Mauritius and registered in the Archives Department under Ord. 21 of 1893, which has been published regularly by this Department since 1893. For very many years, however, the Ordinance was not strictly enforced, so that these Memoranda are not fully representative of the actual output.

They had to be supplemented by searches in the Curepipe Carnegie Library, Mauritius Institute Library, Port-Louis Municipal Library, British Museum, Colonial Office Library and Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris, and by a thorough scrutiny of the files of the Mauritius Gazette for 1811-31 and of the Cernéen for 1832 onwards for any accounts of and references to local publications.

A few series in the Mss Section of the Archives Department, especially series HA (British Government : Early Years : Miscellaneous (1811-40)) and RA (Secretariat: In-letters (1811-80)) also yielded a certain amount of material embedded in official papers.

It should be noted that the registration Ordinance of 1893 excluded annual reports, trade circulars and other publications of a purely commercial nature. Considering that the registration of corporate bodies, too, was not regulated until fairly recently, it was not possible to trace all such publications.

Wherever possible the entries were made from the books themselves, but in many cases, especially for the books issued during the period 1811-1892, the material could not be examined and the recording had to be made from second-hand information. All doubtful titles are given in square brackets.

The entries are listed in chronological order of issue. The place of printing is, unless otherwise stated, Port-Louis. Very few printing presses were active in other towns and only 18 books bearing the imprints of printing establishments situated in the rural districts are recorded.

Location is not indicated, as most of the items are available in the chief libraries of Mauritius, especially the Curepipe Carnegie Library, which is the most important in this respect, and in the Archives Department for 1893 onwards.

A total of 1630 entries were recorded, of which 807 are for the years 1811-1900 and 823 for the years 1901-1953. The relatively small number of imprints for 1811-32 (70 only) is due to the fact that the press was not free then and that a strict control was exercised during those years over all publications.

A critical study of this output would, of course, be out of place here, but a few general remarks may be offered.

The first and most obvious remark is that it is predominantly French. Out of the 1630 entries recorded there are 1334 for French books, 276 for English, 14 for Creole and 4 for Hindi books. There are also 2 books in Latin and 3 bi-lingual (English and French) publications.

For the period 1811-1900 there are 689 French as against 107 English books. For the period 1901-53 the figures are 645 and 169 respectively, which shews a definite increase of publications issued in English. The proportion of English to French books, however, is only about 1 to 5.

The other languages are negligible. The books in Creole are not the work of " creole " writers but actually of French writers and, although Creole is the lingua franca of Mauritius, there is no creole literature to speak of.

The actual number of books issued in Hindi is probably larger than that recorded here, since the law on the registration of books was ignored by Oriental printers just as it was by other printers. With regard to publications in Chinese, none were traced other than those that are recorded in group B.

The beginnings of Oriental printing in Mauritius have not been investigated yet. The earliest reference to a publication issued in an Oriental language is for 1868 (The Mercantile Advertiser issued in Tamil and English, see group B, no. 147), but no copies of it were traced and it seems that the first Oriental press worth mentioning was that of the Hindusthani which began to function in 1909 (see group B, no. 346). No publication was traced, however, bearing its imprint.

From 1811 to the present day some 80 book-producing establishments were active in Mauritius. At present there are altogether 33 printing establishments, of which, however, 16 do not produce books.

The total number of persons engaged in the printing trade amounts to 394 according to the last census (1952). This is the highest figure recorded since 1846, when the first proper census was held.

An attempt was made to compare the printing record at various dates with the population figures, but, as the number of literates is not available in most census returns, the comparison would have served little purpose.

The 1846 and 1852 figures are given, however, for what they are worth. In 1846 Mauritius had a total population of 161,089 of whom about 30,000 were literate in European languages. There were about 10 printing establishments employing 78 people and the output was 15 publications.*

*Exclusive, of course, of periodicals, newspapers and official publications.

In 1952 the total population was 501,471 of whom 180,507 were returned as literates (although this figure probably includes a large number of semi-literates). There were about 30 printing establishments employing 394 people, and the output was 25 publications. *

From these figures it will be seen that in quantity book-production in Mauritius does not seem to have kept pace with the increase of the population.

With regard to quality it is not for the bibliographer but for the literary historian to make an appraisal, and, in fact, several essays have already appeared on the subject, the chief of which is W. Ithier's La littérature de langue française à l'île Maurice (Paris, Lib. Lac, 1930). This, however, bears only on purely literary publications issued in French, but, as will be seen from the present record, there are many others to be taken into account. It will be for future students of the Mauritian record to give the matter fuller treatment.

*Exclusive, of course, of periodicals, newspapers and official publications.

GROUP B

PERIODICALS, NEWSPAPERS AND SERIALS

1769 - 1954

INTRODUCTION

This group includes all newspapers, periodicals and serials privately published in Mauritius from the introduction of printing in 1768 down to 1954, together with a few official periodicals of more than purely departmental interest which are also recorded in group C (Official publications), with See also references to group B.

The main source for the period 1768-1810 was Dr. A. Toussaint's Early printing in the Mascarene Islands, 1767-1810, Paris, 1951, already mentioned in the introduction to group A.

For the years 1811-1954 the following sources were consulted :

T. Sauzier : Notice bibliographique sur les calendriers-almanachs publiés à l'Île Maurice, de l'origine à ce jour (in Mauritius Almanac for 1889, p. 308-314) ;

E. Daruty de Grandpré : L'Imprimerie aux Mascareignes et à Madagascar (in Nouv. Rev. Hist. et Litt. de l'Île Maurice, 1902, nos. 45 & 46) and an unpublished list of newspapers and periodicals compiled about 1900 ;

A. Rae : List of almanacs and calendars published in Mauritius since 1769 (in Mauritius Almanac for 1917, p. A95-497) and Liste des journaux, revues et publications périodiques publiés à Maurice (Ibid., p. A98-A101).

The files of the Mauritius Gazette for 1811-1832 and of the Cernéen for 1832-1900, the Mauritius Almanacs for 1851-1941 and the Blue Books for 1883-1938 were also searched for references to newspapers and periodicals.

Some information was supplied by the Accountant General with whom editors of newspapers have to deposit guarantees under Ord. 6 of 1837. The information obtained from that quarter, however, did not go further back than 1936, because the records prior to that date could not be traced in the Accountant General's Department. The loss of these records, which contained first-hand information, is much to be deplored.

The Memoranda of books registered in the Archives under Ord. 21 of 1893 were not very helpful because, although the term " book " was inclusive of periodicals, actually a large number of periodicals were not deposited in the Archives. In point of fact, the registration of newspapers and periodicals was made compulsory for the first time in 1952 only, when the archives legislation was consolidated and revised.

None the less, the collection of newspapers, periodicals and serials in the Archives Department happens to be the largest in the island, because it was frequently added to by gifts and presentations, the most important being the presentation in 1950 by the Municipal Corporation of Port Louis of the collection of newspapers in the Municipal Library.

A few periodicals are to be found in the Curepipe Carnegie Library and the Mauritius Institute Library, but the only places where fairly large collections of Mauritian periodicals are available, apart from the Mauritius Archives, are the Mauritius Chamber of Agriculture, the Mauritius Chamber of Commerce and the private library of Mr. André de Chapuiset Le Merle, at Le Vallon, Mahébourg, in Mauritius, and in Great Britain the British Museum Department of Newspapers and Periodicals at Colindale and the Public Record Office.

A few items not available in Mauritius are represented in the Colindale repository and information thereon as well as photocopies of the earliest issues available were obtained through the courtesy of Mr. H. M. Nixon.

The total number of entries recorded amounts to 606, of which 27 are for the years of early printing (1769-1810) ; 282 for the years 1811-1899 ; and 297 for the years 1900-1954, representing a yearly average of 3 and 5 for the last two periods respectively.

Out of these 606 items copies of 103 were not traced, in spite of every effort made to procure them, including an appeal to the public in the leading newspapers.

The figure of 606 is fairly high for a small island like Mauritius, but it should be noted that the death-rate, too, was very high. 435, i.e. about two-thirds of the items listed lived less than 5 years, 70 lived more than 5 but less than 10 years ; 34 lived more than 10 but less than 20 years ; and only 59 lived for 20 years and more. There is one case of a newspaper that lived over 100 years : the Cernéen, first issued in 1832 and still running (see no. B 52).

A better view of the position may be obtained from the following table which gives the number of newspapers (dailies & weeklies) and other periodicals compiled from the present findings together with the number of journalists, as recorded in the census-returns from 1846 to 1952 :

YEARS	JOURNALISTS	NEWSPAPERS	OTHER PERIODICALS
1846	unknown	6	2
1851	unknown	7	5
1861	5	7	14
1871	16	7	14
1881	21	11	19
1891	28	18	29
1901	26	16	22
1911	23	15	27
1921	unknown	12	22
1931	unknown	16	30
1944	17	18	35
1952	36	14	60

From those figures it would appear that the heyday of Mauritian journalism was about 1891, and that there has been a decline since. On the other hand, it will be noted that far more periodicals are being published now than at any other period. For the years 1953 and 1954 respectively 9 and 8 new periodicals were recorded.

The division into languages is as follows :

French	... 289
English	... 71
French & English	... 210
Oriental languages	... 19
Oriental & European languages	... 17

This shows that French is predominant, periodicals issued in French being four times as numerous as those issued in English.

Oriental languages make their first appearance in 1868, but the existence of the Mercantile Advertiser printed in Tamil in 1868 (no. B 147) and of the Anjuman Islam Maurice printed in Hindustani and Gujrati (no. B 190) is doubtful and no copies of these two periodicals were traced. So is that of the Mauritius Chinese Gazette of 1895 (no. B 281). So that all we can positively assert on first-hand evidence is that the first periodical in an Indian language (L'Islamisme, no. B 335) appeared in 1906 and that the first periodical in Chinese (Chinese Daily News, no. B 438) made its appearance in 1932 only.

With regard to subject-matter, politics, literature and religion appear to be the most popular subjects.

The periodical literature of Mauritius is most valuable for the historian, because it provides material for the study of everyday life and of public opinion in this island right from 1769. The almanacs, calendars and directories, of which there is a broken series from 1769 to 1850 and a regular one from 1851 to 1941, also provide useful figures and statistics.

Most almanacs also include chronological tables of events. In 1917 a chronological table covering the years 1507 to 1917 was issued as a supplement to the Mauritius Almanac, and from 1918 to 1941 yearly chronologies were published regularly in each issue. Some newspapers, like the Cernéen, also published chronologies at the end of every year.

Of particular value, too, for the historian, are the historical publications, of which 31 are recorded.

Finally, in a class by themselves, stand the satirical and humoristic periodicals of which there are 18 altogether, many illustrated with cartoons which constitute historical evidence of a peculiar nature.

Much more could be said on the material recorded in group B, but the bibliographer's function is not to write history but only to pave the way for the historian ; so, having done his part he must limit himself to a few general remarks.

GROUP C

GOVERNMENT AND SEMI-OFFICIAL PUBLICATIONS

1810-1954

INTRODUCTION

This group includes publications issued in Mauritius or Great Britain by the various agencies, permanent or temporary, of the Mauritius Government and by semi-official or Government controlled agencies, from the establishment of British rule (1810) down to 1954.*

Some of the agencies of the second class may, in fact, not strictly fall within the legal definition of official or even semi-official bodies, but, as they are generally regarded as such by the layman, it was found more appropriate to list their publications here rather than in group A where they would not have been looked for by most readers.

Here are also listed some Command Papers relative to Mauritius presented to Parliament and issued in Great Britain. These, however, are limited to papers relating entirely to Mauritius, and do not by any means represent all the material of Mauritian interest available in the bulky series of Accounts and Papers of the House of Commons. This, as explained in the general introduction, was actually listed, but could not be published in the present work.

The recording of the material published here is based almost exclusively on the holdings of the Mauritius Archives and of the Council Office, which are the only repositories of official publications of any importance.

Questionnaires were sent to the several Government Departments to enquire about their holdings, but the replies received were not very helpful and some were actually misleading. On the whole, very little additional material was traced in departmental repositories.

The main source of information was the collection of Minutes of Proceedings of the Council of Government (1832 - 1948) and of the present Legislative Council (1948 onwards).

Unfortunately, this collection is very badly indexed and this, added to the fact that a proper series of Sessional Papers was not started until as late as 1951, made the research extremely laborious and sometimes hopeless.

Another difficulty was that the Government Printing Office, which was not organised as an autonomous Department until 1932, has no record of its output in the 19th century and early 20th century, when it was successively controlled by the Prisons Department, the Storekeeper General's Department and the Colonial Secretary's Office. As a matter of fact, practically nothing is known of the Government Press before 1876, and the story of official printing in Mauritius during the first decades of the British settlement has yet to be written.

A third difficulty was caused by the complete lack of method in issuing official publications. Departmental publications are, as a rule, not numbered serially, and in many instances do not even bear the name of the issuing authority. There is nothing either to differentiate publications issued by officers acting in their official capacity from those issued by officers acting in their private capacity ; and, indeed, in many cases it was quite impossible to classify such publications with any degree of accuracy.

Matters were made still worse by the want of even an elementary guide to the history of the administrative machinery in Mauritius. This necessitated a long and arduous search in the Blue Books and Mauritius Almanacs to trace the numerous and sometimes quite bewildering changes of names and status affecting each agency from the date of its establishment to the present day.

The instruments setting up the agencies also had to be examined and, in fact, nearly as much time had to be spent on tracing the history of each agency as on recording its publications.

Once recorded, the material was found to fall under four classes or categories of headings : (1) the first standing for regular departments existing at present ; (2) the second standing for extinct departments which have either ceased to function or undergone a change of name and status ; (3) the third standing for agencies other than regular departments ; (4) the fourth being class-headings for publications not issued by any specific department or agency and for which special headings had to be provided.

These class-headings, which are marked with an asterisk to distinguish them from the other headings (which are all proper author-headings), are as follows, in alphabetical order :

CORRESPONDENCE, including official correspondence, mainly between the Colonial Office and the Mauritius Government, published by authority ;

DEPENDENCIES, including all reports and other publications relative to Rodrigues and the Minor Dependencies ;

* Official publications of the former French administration are listed among Early Imprints in group A.

EXPERTS, including reports and memoranda by experts appointed by authority ;

INQUIRY COMMISSIONS, including reports and connected papers of commissions appointed by Letters-Patent or by proclamation ;

LAWS, including collections, codes, digests, excerpts and indexes of legal enactments published by authority ;

MEMORIALS, including memorials and observations sent to Government by various individuals and public bodies and published by authority. These are sub-divided into MEMORIALS : CHAMBER OF AGRICULTURE ; MEMORIALS : CHAMBER OF COMMERCE and MEMORIALS : OTHERS ;

SPECIAL COMMITTEES, including reports and connected papers of special committees and commissioners appointed under various authorities.

Some doubt was at first entertained as to whether these four classes should be treated separately or whether all the headings should be arranged in one and the same alphabetical sequence ; but after considering the respective merits of the two methods, the latter was found to be more satisfactory and was finally adopted.

In order, however, to guide the reader through the complexity of the Mauritius administration, numerous see also references are included under each heading before the actual listing.

Under each heading the material is listed in chronological order of issue or of tabling in Council, as the case may be, with the exception of the Development and Welfare publications (Nos. 742 - 816) and of the Sessional Papers of the present Legislative Council (Nos. 1393 - 1428), which bear serial numbers and are, therefore, arranged in their natural numerical order shewn in brackets at the end of the entries.

Unless otherwise stated, the publications recorded are issued by the Government Printer. The date of tabling in Council is given only for publications, copies of which were not traced.

There is a grand total of 111 headings and 2125 entries made up as follows :

- Existing departments : 37 headings comprising 541 entries
- Extinct departments : 30 headings comprising 335 entries
- Other agencies : 35 headings comprising 484 entries
- Special classes : 9 headings comprising 765 entries

From the above figures it appears that non-departmental publications listed under special headings are much more numerous than departmental ones. Actually, the most numerous publications on record are the reports of Council Committees, Inquiry Commissions, Experts and Special Committees.

It will also be noted that the output of present departments is higher than that of extinct ones. At present, the departments with the biggest output are :

- Colonial Secretary's Office,
- Council Office,
- Department of Agriculture,
- Development & Welfare,
- Education Department,
- Medical and Health Department.

Present departments producing Annual Reports of more than 50 pages are :

- Accountant General,
- Agriculture,
- Colonial Secretary,
- Customs,
- Education,
- Labour,
- Medical and Health,
- Police.

There has been, of late, a remarkable increase in the volume of some Annual Reports which is worth recording here, since it is not evident from the entries in the present group which do not give the collation for each issue :

	1945	1949	1953
Agriculture	34 p.	78 p.	64 p.
Co-operation	10	25	32
Customs	23	32	146
Education	11	59	94
Labour ...	53	66	72
Medical &. Health	12	78	97
Police	34	63	57

The last point to be considered is : how does the output of official publications compare with that of private publications recorded in group A ?

The findings recorded in the present work are : 807 entries for group A and 1177 for group C for the period 1811 - 1900, and 823 entries for group A and 948 for group C for the period 1901 - 1954, which shews that the output of official publications has always been higher than that of private ones.

A final word may now be said on the importance of government publications in general. Although there is an unfortunate tendency in many circles — in Mauritius and elsewhere — to discard them with silent contempt, they do, in fact, contain a lot of valuable information which historians would be ill-advised to overlook.

Of main importance in that respect are those that contain figures and statistics, chiefly the Blue Books, Estimates, Financial Statements, Year-books of Statistics, Annual Reports, Annual Report of the Colony of Mauritius and a few more.

Very useful data are also to be found in the reports of Inquiry Commissions, Special Committees, Experts, and in most departmental publications, although there may perhaps be a case for shearing most government publications of many unessential details and making the information they are intended to impart more digestible for the historian and the general public.

GROUP D

PUBLICATIONS ISSUED ABROAD

1600 - 1954

INTRODUCTION

This group includes private and official publications issued abroad and in any language relative to Mauritius, except official publications issued in Great Britain which are listed in group C (Government and Semi-official Publications).

Periodicals containing contributions of Mauritian interest issued abroad are also listed here, but the contributions themselves are not listed except if available in separates, since the recording of periodical literature had to be left out, as explained in the general introduction.

Publications of Mauritian authors not relative to Mauritius are excluded, too, as well as theses and doctoral dissertations by Mauritians which do not relate to Mauritius, but theses and dissertations relative to Mauritius are included, with the University Degree for which the thesis or dissertation was written indicated in brackets at the end of the entry.

Finally, no attempt was made to record every edition of every book listed. In the case of Bernardin de Saint Pierre's Paul et Virginie alone, of which there were hundreds of editions, this would have required a special volume.

Translations, however, are recorded, and particular care was taken to trace translations into English of works issued in French and other languages.

With regard to eminent Mauritians or eminent people identified with Mauritius, no attempt was made to record every publication concerning them, for then, not one but several volumes would have been needed. The bibliography of Charles Edward Brown Sequard, to take only one instance, would have filled pages and pages. Only the most important material was listed.

The criterion used for including any publication in this group was the following : it had to be either wholly or partly relative to Mauritius or to persons connected with Mauritius, even if it contained only a few references to some aspect of Mauritian history, life, biography, industry, etc.

The sources utilized were the holdings of Mauritian libraries and of some important libraries abroad.

The first class includes the Curepipe Carnegie Library, the Mauritius Institute Library, the Port Louis Municipal Library and, to a lesser extent, the Reference-Library of the Mauritius Archives Department, which dates only from 1951 and is not very representative yet. The most important local collection of mauritiana issued abroad is the Prosper d'Epinay collection in the Curepipe Carnegie Library.

The second class includes the British Museum, the Colonial Office Library, the Bodleian Library and the Library of the Royal Empire Society, in Great Britain ; the Bibliothèque Nationale and the Bibliothèque du Ministère de la France d'Outre-Mer, in France; the Library of Congress and the New York Public Library, in the United States ; the Mitchell Library, in Australia ; the Library of the University of Witwatersrand, in the Union of South Africa; and the Bibliothèque Publique de Pondichéry, in India.

Standard reference-works and the catalogues of some booksellers specializing in fricana and orientalia were also utilized, mainly those of Francis Edwards (Great Britain), and Paul Geuthner (France).

For publications relative to agriculture and the natural sciences, information was obtained from the Department of Agriculture, the Mauritius Institute and the Mauritius Sugar Industry Research Institute. Many of these publications are contributions to learned periodicals, but as they are stated to be also available in reprints or separates, they are recorded here.

The material is arranged in alphabetical order of authors' names or first word of the title, as the case may be, with chronological sub-arrangement for works by the same author.

In most cases the entries are full. Very long titles, however, are abridged, the parts left out being indicated by three dots. Wherever possible the imprint and collation are given. In the case of books only partly concerned with Mauritius, the relevant pages or chapters are indicated, as far as practicable.

A total of 1,631 entries are recorded, of which 1,003 are for publications in French, 520 for publications in English, 10 for publications in Creole and 98 for publications in other languages (Portuguese, Dutch, German and Danish).

These entries are for a period of 354 years, from 1600 to 1954, the earliest book about Mauritius being the account of Van Warwijck's visit to this island published in 1600 (Journal oste Dagh register... Amsterdam, Cornelis Claesz, 1600).

It should be observed, however, that many of the publications in languages other than French are, in fact, translations of French works, so that the number of non-French publications is actually below the figures mentioned above.

Considering that Mauritius has now been held by the British much longer than it was by the French, the number of publications in English relative to this British possession appears to be rather low.

A good proportion of the material recorded consists of accounts of travellers, and there are a good many entries relative to naval warfare in the 18th century. The scientific literature, too, is fairly large.

Literary publications, novels, poems, etc. seem to be less numerous, the outstanding, and so far unsurpassed, publication of this type being Bernardin de Saint Pierre's Paul et Virginie, first issued in 1789 and since reprinted time and again.

There are quite a number of biographies or biographical sketches, but publications relative to history proper and to the social sciences are not very numerous.

It will be noted that there is, so far, no comprehensive history of Mauritius, although there are some well-informed monographs, including about half a dozen theses of real merit.

It will also be noted that the literature relative to the dependencies of Mauritius is not very large.

On the whole, however, it may be said that the literature relative to Mauritius issued abroad is fairly representative of the most important aspects of Mauritian development, although there are still many topics to be covered.

GROUP E

MANUSCRIPTS & ARCHIVALIA

1598 _ 1954

INTRODUCTION

In this group are recorded manuscripts and archivalia available in Mauritius and Rodrigues and in 15 other countries : Aden, Argentina, Australia, Ceylon, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, India, Indonesia, Madagascar, the Netherlands, Reunion, the Union of South Africa and the United States of America.

Applications were also made to archive centres in Indochina, Portugal, Portuguese East Africa and Spain, but the information obtained from these countries was rather disappointing and did not seem to justify any extensive research.

With Indochina Mauritius had few contacts; and although this island was held by Portugal for a good many years (1511 - 1580), it never was a Portuguese settlement. The chief Portuguese records of Mauritian interest are portolani and nautical charts of the 16th and 17th centuries which are duly listed in group F of the present work.

With regard to Portuguese East Africa, the Director of the Arquivo de Mocambique intimated that in about 1891 most of the Mozambique records before 1840 were transferred to the Arquivo Historico Ultramarino at Lisbon where enquiries brought to light little material.

In Spain the Information Service of the Biblioteca Nacional of Madrid reported that the Archivo General Central de Alcala de Henares had been destroyed by fire and that there was little chance of tracing any records of Mauritian interest in Spanish repositories.

A brief account must now be given of how the research was carried out in Mauritius and in the other Countries where material was actually traced.

In Mauritius the only guide available up to now was the short description of the material in the Archives Department given in the Mauritius Archives Bulletin, no. 2 of 1950, p. 1- 21. Since that account was published, however, many important changes and additions took place. These are all incorporated in the fuller description given in the present work (see nos. E362 - 490).

Concerning records kept in other agencies the only information on hand was the result of a survey of departmental records made in 1880, but this was out of date and not very reliable, so when the archives legislation of Mauritius was consolidated and revised in 1952, a provision was included in Ord. 71 of 1952 to the effect that " every Government Department, local government or other public corporation, institution or organisation having in its custody public archives shall, within one year of the coming into force of this Ordinance, draw up and deposit at the Archives Department an inventory of such public archives ".

Out of 42 agencies concerned, including 38 of the central and 4 of the local government, 17 had records of earlier date than 1900 and of definite archival value which are listed in this group. A more detailed account of the records position in the others, the holdings of which have not reached archival stage yet, will be found in the Annual Report of the Mauritius Archives Department for 1954.

Historical material was also traced in 6 private institutions and in the hands of 18 notaries and of 15 private individuals. It is believed, however, that there are more records in private hands.

In the case of Rodrigues, where the records position was known to be unsatisfactory, an examination in situ was considered to be necessary, so the Chief Archivist paid a visit to that dependency in September 1953 and made a brief survey of the material kept there.

The other countries concerned may be divided into three categories :

- (1) those where the research was conducted by the Chief Archivist himself;
- (2) those where it was entrusted to remunerated professional research-workers ;
- (3) those where information was obtained through official channels, in most cases without remuneration.

The first category includes Aden, Ceylon, India and Reunion. Before undertaking the present work, the Chief Archivist had also visited the chief archive centres in France, Great Britain and South Africa and had mapped out the field of research for the first two countries in 1950-51.

The research in Aden was carried out in 1952 during a secondment for duty at the request of the Aden Government to report on their records which were then still unclassified.

Reunion was visited on the way to Aden. The Reunion Archives were then in process of reorganisation and reclassification, the " departmentalization " of the island in 1946 having led to their being placed under the direct control of the Archives Nationales in 1952. The reorganisation was not completed yet when the present work went to press, so that a detailed description of the Mauritius material available there (which is very considerable) could not be given.

In 1952 - 53 the Chief Archivist also spent two months in India working in the record offices of Bombay, New-Delhi, Madras and Pondicherry. Calcutta was not visited, the bulk of the Bengal Archives being available in New-Delhi, but information on the emigration records still kept in the West Bengal State Archives was obtained from Sri B. N. Sarkar, B.A., Assistant, West Bengal Secretariat.

The Government Archives of Ceylon were visited in 1954 by the Chief Archivist while on leave there, and the Mauritius material, which relates mainly to the captivity of Prince Ehelapola in Mauritius in 1825 - 29, was noted.

The second category includes France, Great Britain, the Netherlands and South Africa.

In France the research was conducted by Melle Madeleine Chefdeville (now Mme Paul Lebard), archiviste paléographe of the Ecole des Chartes and author of a thesis on private life in Mauritius under French rule (see D328). She was also responsible for tracing some material in the Bibliothèque Nationale for group D.

In Great Britain the research was conducted by Miss Sylvia England, Ph. D., who, as already stated in the general introduction, also made a very full listing of the Mauritius material in the series of Accounts and Papers of the House of Commons.

In the Netherlands the work was entrusted to Mr. J. Geselschap, a professional archivist recommended by the Director of the Algemeen Rijksarchief. The search in the Dutch records had to be limited to the period of Dutch rule in Mauritius (1598 - 1710), Mr. Geselschap reporting that an examination of records of later date to trace material relative to relations between the Netherlands and Mauritius in the 18th cent. would be a formidable and very expensive task.

In South Africa the Cape repository was covered by Mrs. S. A. Mouton, under the supervision of Dr. Mouton, Senior Archivist of the Cape Archives. With regard to the Natal Archives the information was kindly supplied, free of charge, by Mr. P. W. Strijdom, Head of the Pietermaritzburg repository.

The third category includes Argentina, Australia, Denmark, Germany, Indonesia, Madagascar, and the United States of America.

For Argentina Senor J. R. Yaben, Director of the Archivo General de la Nacion at Buenos-Ayres, reported the existence of many records of Mauritian interest in his repository and supplied a few notes thereon. An attempt was made through the British Consulate in Buenos-Ayres to have that material abstracted by a research-worker on the spot, but the price asked for was so high that the project had to be given up. A visit of the Chief Archivist to Argentina was also envisaged, but that, too, proved unfeasible.

For Australia the information on the material in the Mitchell Library was supplied by Mrs. Phyllis Maunder Jones, Mitchell Librarian, and on that in the Public Library of Victoria by Mr. C. A. Mc Callum, Chief Librarian.

In Denmark Mr. Aage Rasch, author of a recent study on Danish trade with Mauritius (see D 1320), very kindly accepted to list the records relative to that topic in the Rigsarkivet in Copenhagen, free of charge.

In Germany Dr. Miller, Director of the Hamburg State Archives, and Dr. Kleinau, Director of the Wolfenbüttel Archives, kindly supplied data on the Mauritius material —not very considerable — available in their respective repositories.

Concerning the Wolfenbüttel records it should be noted that it is now very doubtful if the person identified with Mauritius who claimed to be Princess Charlotte was the real Princess. None the less, it was felt that the archivalia relative to the Princess should be recorded.

For Indonesia and Madagascar some difficulty was experienced in obtaining information, owing to the fact that professional research-workers were unavailable in those countries.

It was noted from Dr. van der Chij's inventory of the Batavia (now Djakarta) Archives in Indonesia that they included Mauritius material. Miss Jurriaansse, a well-known Dutch archivist, who visited the Djakarta Archives in 1954, also reported that she found about 170 references to Mauritius in their card-index for the period 1761-1815, but repeated applications to Djakarta for further information remained unanswered and the listing for that repository had to be limited to the summaries available in van der Chij's book.

From Madagascar it was intimated that the Archives du Gouvernement Général at Tananarive were in process of reclassification; the Madagascar government was very helpful, but such information as could be obtained on records of Mauritian interest in the Tananarive repository was perforce incomplete, especially as there is no guide to that repository other than the very brief account contained in Carlo Laroche: Les Archives de la France d'Outremer, Paris, 1951.

In the United States of America the data on the National Archives at Washington were kindly supplied by Dr. Wayne Grover, Chief Archivist of the States. Dr. James Childs, of the Library of Congress, who took a very keen interest in the present work, most obligingly indicated other possible sources of information which were tapped by correspondence.

Mr. A. K. Mc Comb, of the Massachusetts Historical Society, Miss Getchell, of the Essex Institute, Salem, and Miss H. Erchinger, of Girard College, Philadelphia, also did some research-work in this connection. The findings are fairly considerable, but it is believed that a visit to the States would have resulted in an even richer harvest. Financial considerations unfortunately stood in the way.

The next step was how to arrange the material traced in the abovementioned countries. Alphabetical arrangement by countries with sub-arrangement in alphabetical order of archive centres was found to be the most satisfactory. Under each centre the natural order of call-marks was followed. 17 countries altogether, including 95 archive centres and other institutions, are represented.

The material itself is of three types : (1) archive records proper, which are usually divided into record groups, themselves divided into classes or series ; (2) artificial collections ; (3) individual mss.

For the first type every class or series of a regular record group was treated as a unit (except when there was no subdivision into classes, in which case the group itself became a unit) ; likewise for the second type every collection relative to one single topic was treated as a unit ; as for individual mss, each piece or document became a separate unit. The total number of units recorded in group E amounts to 1152, of which 849 are regular archive groups or series and 303 are either artificial collections or individual mss.

In view of the need to keep the volume of the present work within reasonable dimensions, the information collected, which was sometimes very detailed, had to be condensed and compressed to the utmost, and it was impossible to attempt anything like calendaring under each entry. The amount of work involved in classifying and condensing the notes received from the research-workers employed abroad and from other correspondents may not be evident to the reader when he goes through the entries in group E — in fact, it was quite considerable.

Information on such guides and finding-aids as are available for each repository is limited to bare essentials, since they are fully listed in the Guide International des Archives published in 1934 by the Institut International de Coopération Intellectuelle; in Nabolz and Kla U1 : Internationaler Archivführer issued in 1936 ; in the Répertoire sélectif de guides des Archives published in 1950 by Unesco as a supplement to the Guide International; and in the issues of Archivum, the periodical published since 1951 by the International Council of Archives.

Now, for a few concluding remarks on the findings recorded in group E. A very large amount of material for the years 1721 onwards is preserved in Mauritius, but it will be seen that there is a great deal, too, in other countries — France and Great Britain especially — for the 18th cent. mainly, whereas for the 17th cent. the records are available in the Netherlands, South Africa and Indonesia only.

The local student of Mauritian history will, therefore, do well to remember that it is impossible to do any serious study on certain aspects of that history by using only the material available in Mauritius, and that examination of the archivalia preserved abroad is absolutely essential for his purpose.

Likewise, the student working abroad will note that more than one chapter of Mauritian history cannot be fruitfully investigated without examining the records preserved on the spot.

ADEN

ADEN PORT TRUST, nos. 1 - 3
SECRETARIAT, nos. 4 - 5

ADEN PORT TRUST (Steamer Point, Colony of Aden)

Records of the Aden Port Trust comprising three groups of records for the years 1886 onwards :

1. (1) Port Trust Head Office.
2. (2) Chief Engineer's Office.
3. (3) Maala Wharf.

The records relative to Marine in the first group probably contain material relative to maritime intercourse between Aden and Mauritius. No inventory available.

SECRETARIAT (Steamer Point, Colony of Aden)

The main bulk of the official records relative to Aden under British rule (1838 onwards) are preserved here. MSS inventories available.

4. A1A. Records of the Political Residency (1838 - 1905).
 45. Includes an application from Mauritius for Somali labourers (1845).
 50. Same subject (1845).
 181. Includes correspondence relative to importation of labourers to Mauritius (1856).
 208. Same subject (1857).
 227. Same subject (1858).

5. F1A. Bombay Secretariat Records (1838 - 1937)

This collection, which was transferred to the Aden Secretariat in 1945, includes the correspondence between Bombay and Aden when the latter formed part of the Bombay Presidency. It probably contains references to the importation of labourers from Aden to Mauritius in the 19th century.

ARGENTINA

ARCHIVO GENERAL DE LA NACIÓN, no. 6

ARCHIVO GENERAL DE LA NACION (Av. L. M. Alem 250, Buenos-Ayres)

Contains a large number of records relative to trade relations between Isle de France and the Spanish Colony of La Plata (now Argentina) from 1781 to 1810, of which only a few are mentioned below.

6. Division Colonia. Sección Gobierno. Legajos Montevideo.
 19. Documents relative to the ship Osterley, from Isle de France (1781).
 36. Documents relative to the ship Duc d'Orléans, from Isle de France (1789).
 39. Same subject (1790).

Enquiries revealed that the amount of Mauritius material in the Archives of Buenos-Ayres is very considerable, but the search had to be given up for want of funds. For further information on the relations between La Plata and Isle de France see Boletín del Instituto de Investigaciones Históricas, Buenos-Ayres, Nov.-Dec. 1929, p. 280-297 and Revue de l'Histoire des Colonies Françaises, Paris, March-April 1929, p. 186-192, and Nov.-Dec. 1930, p. 561-602.

MANUSCRIPT DEPARTMENT

7. A 83. Relative to an attempt to establish trade in spirits to New South Wales from Isle de France (1803).
8. A 1300. Relative to export of cattle and salt meat to Mauritius (1847).
9. A 1531 - 4. Relative to export of Australian horses to Mauritius (1875).
10. Ad 27. Relative to Colonial Company of Mauritius (1819).
11. B 732. Original mss of Journal of James Backhouse (1831 - 41), including an account of his visit to Mauritius in 1838.
See also D78 - 80.
12. C 187. Relative to visit of P. G. King to Isle de France (1790).
13. Banks Papers (1772 - 1811).
 - (1) The Australian correspondence of Sir Joseph Banks purchased in 1884 from Lord Brabourne, which also includes a considerable collection of non-Australian material.
 - (2) A further collection of Banks papers purchased in 1929 from a collateral descendant of Lady Banks, including a number of letters from Matthew Flinders. Only a part of these collections is indexed.
14. King Papers (1786 - 1810).
Journals and letters of P. G. King, second lieutenant of H. M S. Sirius, who was appointed in 1788 superintendent of the newly-formed establishment at Norfolk Island, and later its Lieutenant-Governor, and from 1800 to 1806 was Governor of New South Wales.
15. Deas Thompson Papers (1823 - 83).
Correspondence of Sir Edward Deas Thompson. Clerk of the Legislative Council of New South Wales from 1829 to 1836, and from 1837 to 1856 Colonial Secretary.
16. Flinders Papers (1803 - 12).
Extensive collection of papers relative to Matthew Flinders presented by his son Flinders Petrie, including Flinders' own letter book of copies and drafts of letters he wrote while a prisoner in Isle de France.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF VICTORIA (Swanston St., Melbourne CI, Victoria)

MANUSCRIPT DEPARTMENT

17. Decaen Papers (1803 - 10).
A collection of excerpts mainly from the papers of General Decaen, Governor of Isle de France from 1803 to 1810, now preserved in the Municipal Library of Caen, Normandy, and mostly relating to the detention of Matthew Flinders in Isle de France (see also E117).
18. Flinders Papers (1801 - 12).
 - (1) Extracts of letters from the Admiralty and Colonial Office records.
 - (2) Letters written mainly to the Admiralty, 1801-12, together with the commission handed to Flinders by the Admiralty whilst in command of the investigator.

PUBLIC LIBRARY OF VICTORIA

MANUSCRIPT DEPARTMENT

18. Flinders papers (1801 - 12).
 (3j Letter of Flinders to M. Barbé de Marbois, Minister of the Public Treasury, Paris, on his long captivity in Isle de France.
 (4) Photographic facsimile of Flinders' log, no. 3, of his voyage from Port Jackson to Isle de France in the Investigator, the Porpoise and the Cumberland, June - Dec. 1803.
19. Shillinglaw Papers.
 Comprising materials for a life of Capt. Matthew Flinders collected by J. Shillinglaw. 4 y.

226. Blyth papers (1832 - 39).
 A large number of typed extracts of letters written by James Blyth (1801 - 73) in Mauritius almost exclusively to his brother, Henry David Blyth, in London. There are, however, a few letters in the other direction and a few from James Blyth to his parents. The extracts were taken from somewhere around 900 letters, of which, however, some were completely omitted as being of no interest. The originals were destroyed in World War II in a German fire bomb raid on London. The periods covered are :
- 5 April 1832 — 5 Mar. 1835.
 17 July 1835 — 24 Jan. 1837.
 25 Feb. 1837 — 13 Oct. 1837.
 14 Dec. 1837 — 29 Dec. 1837.
 3 Dec. 1838 — 9 Jan. 1839.
- Some extracts from this collection were published in P. J. Barnwell: Visits and Despatches. Mauritius, 1948.

SOCIETY FOR THE PROPAGATION OF THE GOSPEL (15, Tufton St., Westminster, London, S.W. 1)

297. (1). Letters received from missionaries.
These include 3 volumes of letters from Mauritius missionaries (1837 - 58) which are fully calendared, plus an unlisted box of letters from Rev. A. Denny relative to Mauritius and Seychelles (1827 - 49). Mauritius letters are also found in volumes with other dioceses for 1850 - 74. Thereafter the Mauritius letters are included in volumes entitled " Africa", running in annual sequences from 1875 to 1.930.
298. (2). Missionaries' Reports.
Mostly quarterly, (though not always), arranged in annual volumes with frequently no indication of place of origin on the back, so that a search through every volume is necessary to trace the Mauritius material. From 1887 to 1944 the volumes are indexed.
299. (3). Minutes of proceedings and Journal of the Society.
Include several references to Mauritius.
300. (4). Miscellaneous.
A number of obscure pamphlets (mostly of the 1870's and 1.880's), which are very likely to contain Mauritius material.

RECORD GROUP 45. NAVAL RECORDS COLLECTION OF THE OFFICE OF NAVAL RECORDS AND LIBRARY.

1128. Letters received by the Secretary of the Navy from officers commanding the East India Squadron (1841 - 61) and the African Squadron (1843 - 61) contain references to Mauritius.

RECORD GROUP 24. RECORDS OF THE BUREAU OF NAVAL PERSONNEL.

1129. Logs of ships attached to the East India and the African Squadrons contain references to Mauritius.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES AND RECORDS SERVICE

TREASURY DEPARTMENT RECORDS

Although no body of records for this Department is concerned solely with Mauritius, an examination of the series listed may reveal significant references to this island.

RECORD GROUP 36. RECORDS OF THE BUREAU OF CUSTOMS.

1130. Records from various customhouses and districts, chiefly in New England.
Records sent to the Department of the Treasury for use in the settlement of French spoliation claims, mainly for the period 1789 -1801, but with some records dated as early as 1767 and as late as 1845.
1131. Records of collectors of customs at various ports (1789 - 1899).
Consisting of crew lists and crew bonds (for ports other than New York), passenger lists, vessel entrances and clearances, cargo manifests (to 1918), fiscal documents (to 1865), and correspondence.
1132. Crew lists (1803 - 19) and shipping articles (1840 - 1914).
For American vessels entering and clearing the Port of New York.
1133. Customhouse records (1773 - 1900).
Formerly in the Library of Congress, consisting mainly of slave and other manifests, crew lists, shipping articles and ships' passports.
1134. Customs case files (1880 - 1930).

RECORD GROUP 56. GENERAL RECORDS OF THE DEPARTMENT OF THE TREASURY.

1135. Letters received by the Secretary of the Treasury.
Relating to the administration and operation of the Customs Service (1789 -1869).
1136. Letters sent by the Secretary of the Treasury.
Relating to the administration and operation of the Customs Service (1789 -1878).

COMMERCE DEPARTMENT RECORDS

Although no body of records for this Department is concerned solely with Mauritius, an examination of the series listed may reveal significant references to this island.

RECORD GROUP 41. RECORDS OF THE BUREAU OF MARINE, INSPECTION AND NAVIGATION.

1137. Records relating to the documentation of ships by the Bureau of Navigation and its predecessors (1789 - 1899).

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY (Fifth Avenue & 42nd St., New York 18, N.Y.)

1138. Reminiscences of Lieut. Gordon G. Macdonald, of the British Navy, whose ship visited Mauritius in October 1831.
1139. Japanese tit-bits and scraps, by Edouard Hoffmann known as Remenyi (1830 - 88), a Hungarian artist who visited Mauritius in 1886 - 87.
The ms contains inter alia a chapter entitled : Fantasia : the garden of Pamplermousses, island of Mauritius.

NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY

1140. Records of the ship Orthézien of Bordeaux recording some of her voyages in 1794 - 1824, on one of which she made a trip to Mauritius.
1141. Log - books of New York ships engaged in the Mauritius trade (1801 - 05).
1142. Copies of records in the Archives du Ministère de la France d'Outre-Mer. Paris, relating to the Mascarene Islands, Reunion especially (1681 - 1710), and to the French East India Company.
1143. Collection of British Navy log-books recording about 50 cruises prior to 1850.
1144. Draper collection including the following original records relating to Bourbon (Reunion) during the governorship of Jean Baptiste de Villers, presented by Mrs. Henry Draper :
- (1) Ordre et Instruction que Messieurs les Directeurs généraux de la Compagnie des Indes Orientales désirent être exécutés en l'Isle de Bourbon par le Sieur de Villers nommé par la Compagnie au gouvernement de lad. Isle "
 - (2) "Extraits des registres des jugemens rendus par moy deuilers gouverneur pour le Roy et de la Royale Compagnie des Indes orientales de France en l'isle de Bourbon, etc. "
 - (3) " Journal de l'Isle de Bourbon "
 - (4) " Ordonnances et Concessions faites à l'Isle de Bourbon "
 - (5) " Recensement de l'Isle de Bourbon, en général, fait en Mars 1709 "
 - (6) " Mémoire circonstancié De l'Isle de Bourbon En Général "
 - (7) Eight miscellaneous documents (1700 - 10).

Of the documents noted above the " Ordre et Instruction " and the " Journal " were published in the Bulletin of the New York Public Library, XIII, 1, (1909), p. 7 - 63.

PEABODY MUSEUM (Essex St., Salem, Massachusetts)

1145. Union list of about 1,400 log-books of American ships engaged in the Eastern trade, many of which called at Mauritius.

PRIVATE COLLECTIONS

Collections in the hands of the persons listed hereunder :

Mr. Edward ALLEN (1308 - 18, Northern Life Tower, Seattle 1).

1146. (1) Large collection of ms material on- the French navigator, Jean François de Galaup de Lapérouse (1741 - 88), who was identified with Mauritius.

Mr. Gale R. BLOSSER (501. Gonzalez Dr., San Francisco 27, California).

1147. (1) Several logs and journals of American ships engaged in whaling expeditions to the Indian Ocean, including those of the following :
- Bark Hero, capt. Samuel Tobey, of Westport, Massachusetts (1806 -07).
 Ship Harrison, capt. Abner D. Shearman, of New Bedford, Massachusetts (1845 - 50).
 Bark George Washington, capt. Amos C. Baker, of New Bedford, Massachusetts (1848 - 51).
 Ship South Carolina, capt. Edward G. Corey, of New Bedford, Massachusetts (1848 - 51).
 Bark George Washington, capt. William O. Harps, of New Bedford, Massachusetts (1851- 53).

PRIVATE COLLECTIONS

Mr. Gale R. BLOSSER.

1148. (2) Log kept by Midshipman James Hamilton, of H. M. S. Undaunted, capt. Edward Harvey, on an African cruise from 13 November 1830 to 10 February 1834, during which she made three stops at Mauritius : (1) 8 June - 26 Nov. 1831 ; (2) 2 June - 16 Nov. 1832 ; (3) 2 - 13 Nov. 1833.

Mr. E. Lee DORSETT (120, Orchard Ave., Webster Groves 19, Missouri).

1149. (1) Collection of some 20 whaling ship-logs, including that of the following : Bark Joint Dawson, capt. Abraham Gifford, of New Bedford, (Mass.) on a whaling expedition to the Indian Ocean (1867 - 70) during which she remained ten days at Mauritius (21 June -14 July 1868).

Mr. Paul C. NICHOLSON (Nicholson File Company, Providence, 1, Rhode Island).

1150. (1) Several journals and logs of whaling ships which went to the Indian Ocean, including some that called at Mauritius.

RHODE ISLAND HISTORICAL SOCIETY (Providence, Rhode Island)

1151. The Providence Custom House Papers, 1790 - 1870, include a large amount of commercial correspondence and the logs of a number of ships engaged in the Eastern trade, containing several references to Mauritius.

UNIVERSITY OF CHICAGO (Chicago 37, Illinois)

1152. De Curt papers.

Papers of Louis de Curt, " Commissaire du roi " in the years 1784 - 90, including many notes, letters and memoranda relative to the Mascarene Islands and to Eastern trade during the last years of the Old Regime.

GROUP F

PLANS, MAPS & CHARTS

1 502 _ 1954

INTRODUCTION

This group includes 1295 recordings of plans, maps and charts relative to Mauritius and its dependencies from 1502 to 1954 arranged in the following categories or classes :

- (1) General maps of Mauritius, Rodrigues and the Oil Islands (Agalega, the Chagos Archipelago and the Cargados Carajos group), comprising altogether 168 entries for the years 1598 - 1954.
- (2) Regional maps and plans of the nine districts of Mauritius arranged in alphabetical order of districts, and comprising altogether 749 entries for the years 1680 - 1954.
- (3) South West Indian Ocean portolani and nautical charts shewing the Mascarene group, comprising 177 entries for the years 1508 - 1952.
- (4) World maps shewing the Mascarene group chosen amongst the most significant for the history of geographical discovery in the Indian Ocean in the 16th and 17th centuries, and comprising 83 entries for the years 1502 -1696.
- (5) Addenda, including a number of general and regional maps and plans of Mauritius preserved in the Public Record Office (series 78 of the War Office Records), lists of which were received too late to be incorporated in the appropriate classes. These addenda comprise 118 entries covering the years 1780 - 1912.

Of the above classes only the first aims at recording all the material available. The three others had to be selective owing to the large amount of material of little or no significance, with regard especially to regional maps and plans, the listing of which in its entirety would have swollen this work to no good purpose.

Under each heading the material is arranged in chronological order. The entries are as full as possible, only very long titles being abridged. Location is indicated throughout and annotations are included wherever necessary.

This is the first attempt to produce a cartography of Mauritius, no previous catalogue of Mauritius maps and plans being available.

It is believed that the section dealing with the South West Indian Ocean is also the first attempt to produce a fairly comprehensive cartography of that part of the world. No claim, however, is made to definiteness, and that section should rather be regarded as the prolegomena to a proper cartography of the South West Indian Ocean, which has yet to be compiled in greater detail and on more critical lines.

Likewise, the section on world maps does not aim at anything like thoroughness, and it is fully realised that its deficiencies are numerous. It is limited to the 16th and 17th centuries because of the variety of names under which Mauritius was known down to the end of the 17th century. Thereafter the name of the island became fixed and there is nothing to learn in that respect from world maps of later date.

The material for the general and regional maps is available mainly in the Archives Department and Public Works Department in Mauritius, in the Public Record Office in Great Britain, and in the Ministère de la France d'Outre-Mer in France.

Mr. M. Cantin, Government Surveyor, kindly supplied a card-catalogue of the maps in his custody in the Public Works Department; Mr. C. Laroche, Chief Archivist of the Ministère de la France d'Outre-Mer, kindly supplied photocopies of the catalogue of maps and plans concerning Isle de France in the Dépôt des fortifications; and Captain E. Crosse, Harbour Master, supplied some information on Admiralty surveys.

The information concerning the War Office maps in the Public Record Office was obtained from Miss H. Wallis, of the Map Department of the British Museum, and photostats of the entries concerning these maps were procured through the courtesy of Mr. Evans, Deputy-Keeper of the Public Record Office. It is regretted that they had to be listed in an addendum at the end of Group F, but, as the printing of this work was already in progress when they were traced, it was impossible to make any alteration to the typescript.

Useful information concerning the cartography of Port Louis was also found in the following books :

A. Toussaint: Port-Louis, deux siècles d'histoire. Port-Louis, 1936.

Prof. Thornton-White : A master plan for Port Louis. Cape Town, 1952.

For the nautical charts and world maps the material is scattered in many European and American repositories, the chief of which are the Algemeen Rijksarchief in the Hague, the Bibliothèque Nationale in Paris, the British Museum in London, and the Library of Congress in Washington.

Photocopies of many early nautical charts and portolani preserved in archive centres abroad were procured while the present work was in preparation; and, shortly before it went to the printer, the Mauritius Archives Department was presented by Mr. Georges de Visdelou-Guimbeau, a well-known Mauritian student of early cartography, with his private collection of photocopies 16th cent. Indian Ocean charts, which proved a most valuable addition to the Map Division of the Mauritius Archives.

In addition to the map catalogues of the various repositories mentioned above, the following sources were utilized for the preparation of the last two sections of group F :

- (1) A. Grandidier : Histoire de la géographhie de Madagascar. Paris, 1885. 2 vols.
- (2) A. Fauvel : Unpublished documents on the history of Seychelles ... together with a cartography enumerating 94 ancient maps and plans ... Seychelles, 1909.
- (3) P. L. Phillips : A list of geographical atlases in the Library of Congress. Washington, 1909 = 1920. 4 vols.
- (4) A. Kammerer : La Mer Rouge, l'Abyssinie et l'Arabie depuis l'antiquité ... Cairo, 1929 - 52. 3 vols. (which includes much information on the early cartography of the Indian Ocean).
- (5) H. R. Wagner : The Manuscript atlases of Battista Agnese. New York, 1931.
- (6) A. Cortesao : Cartographia e cartographos portuguesas dos seculos XV e XVI. Lisbon, 1935. 2 vols.
- (7) M. Destombes : Cartes Hollandaises : la cartographie de la Compagnie des bides Orientales, 1593 - 1743. Saïgon, 1941.
- (8) L. Wroth : The early cartography of the Pacific. New York, 1944 (which includes much material on the Indian Ocean, too).
- (9) G. de Visdelou-Guimbeau : La découverte des Iles Mascareignes. Port-Louis, 1948.

Standard reference-atlases, including those of Jomard, Santarem, Wieder, Muller, Nordenskiöld and a few more were also consulted as well as a number of treatises on cartography, all of which are listed in group D of the present work.

Valuable assistance was obtained from Mr. E. Skelton and Miss H. Wallis, of the Map Department of the British Museum, and from Melle G. Foncin, of the Map Department of the Bibliothèque Nationale, in Paris. Miss Wallis, especially, took great pains in revising the final drafts.

It is impossible to give here an account of the development of Mauritian cartography, but a few notes appear to be necessary.

Mauritius was known to the Arabs at a very early date, but no Arab charts shewing this island are extant, and the earliest European chart (itself probably copied from Arab charts) on which it appears is Cantino's map of 1502 (see F 1097).

For a long time it was believed that the first Portuguese navigator who sighted Mauritius was Pedro Mascarenhas, but Visdelou-Guimbeau, supporting his contention on Homem's chart of 1519 (see F 921), claims that Mascarenhas sighted only Reunion and that Mauritius was discovered by another Portuguese navigator named Domingos Fernandez in about 1511.

The Portuguese, however, did not settle the island, which appears under various names — the most common of which is Cime or Sime — on subsequent Portuguese charts down to 1598, when it was annexed by the Dutch and given its present name (from the Dutch stadthouder Mauritius van Nassau).

The Dutch, who held Mauritius until 1710, were good cartographers, but, with the exception of the 1670 map from the Secret Atlas of the Dutch East India Company preserved in Vienna and published in 1933 by Wieder (see F 12), most of their maps of Mauritius are inaccurate and, indeed, poor specimens of the cartographer's art.

The French annexed the island in 1715, naming it Isle de France. Their first mapping effort is De Nyon's map of 1722 (see F 15 & F 16), but this, too, was not very accurate, and it was not until 1754 that the first really satisfactory map was produced from the triangulation of Abbé de la Caille (see F 29).

Subsequently, several good maps were produced — by Lislet Geoffroy especially (see F 58) —, but the next triangulation was carried out in 1870 - 80 only by Connal, Surveyor General. More recent surveys were made by Harrison in 1903 - 04 and by Sanceau in 1933 - 34. The Connal triangulation served as a basis for the Descubes map of 1881 (see F 79) — which is a remarkable specimen of the local cartographer's art — and those of Harrison and Sanceau for the G. S. G. S. map of Mauritius, first issued in 1905 (see F 83) and subsequently corrected to 1948.

The first aerial survey of Mauritius was commenced by a Royal Air Force party in 1947 and completed by another party detailed from Madagascar by the Institut Géographique National de France in 1949. This survey served as a basis for a preliminary plot of the whole island compiled by the Directorate of Colonial Surveys, London, in 1952 (see F 109). The preparation of the final plot is now in progress but it is not yet possible to say when it will be completed.

In 1951 another set of aerial surveys, limited to certain regions, was carried out by members of the Aircraft Operating Company of Africa (see F 112, F 539 and F 638), who also covered Rodriguez (see F167).

Rodriguez — more commonly known as Rodrigues —, the chief dependency of Mauritius, was first sighted in 1536 by the Portuguese pilot Diogo Rodriguez from whom it took its name. It was first settled permanently by the French in 1752, some thirty years after they had annexed Mauritius. The earliest map of that island is the 1751 map of d'Après de Manneville (see F 146). This does not seem to have been much improved upon until the survey carried out by Commander W. J. L. Wharton in 1874, which served as a basis for a map issued in 1876 (see F 156). Another survey was made by Hobbs in 1894 (see F 160), and finally in 1952 an aerial map in 14 sheets was produced by the Aircraft Operating Company of Africa from a survey made in 1951 (see F 167).

The Oil Islands were settled from Mauritius roughly between 1780 and 1825. The earliest — and not very accurate — maps of these islands date from the early 19th cent. The most satisfactory maps are those made for the Admiralty by Moersby and Powell (Chagos Archipelago) in 1837 (see F 129), Belcher (Cargados Carajos) in 1846 (see F 130), and Vereker (Chagos) in 1885 (see F 132), which have not been much improved upon so far.

Agalega seems to have been left out by the Admiralty, but a survey of that island formation made by Mr. R. Parcou in 1903 appears as an inset in the 1906 edition and subsequent editions of Belcher's map of Cargados Carajos.

With regard to regional maps of Mauritius there is nothing for the period of Dutch rule, and for that of French rule there is little for the years before 1766, when the domaine was properly organized and the Tribunal Terrier or Land Court was set up.

Most of the material recorded for these early years consists of maps and plans drawn up by military surveyors and relative to fortifications and defence, now preserved in the Ministère de la France d'Outremer in Paris.

A certain amount of surveying was done by surveyors attached to the Conseil Supérieur in the first half of the 18th cent., but land-surveying was not properly regulated until 1774.

The first proper Survey Office seems to have been set up in 1803. When the British annexed Mauritius that office became known as the Surveyor General's Department. In 1904 this was replaced by the Department of Public Works and Surveys, of which the Survey Office became a branch.

There is no Land Department in Mauritius nor anything similar to the Service de la Carte in French colonies. The nearest approach to such an organisation is the Land Registry of the Archives Department which inherited, at the beginning of British rule, all the papers and plans of the former Land Court and is also the official repository of all memoranda of survey drawn up by sworn land-surveyors, the Survey Office in the Public Works Department being concerned only with Crown Lands.

This collection of memoranda of survey — which is briefly described in the present work at E 434 - 439 - includes some 50,000 plans from about 1753 to date, the listing of which in this group was, of course, impossible. They do, however, include interesting material for the student of land-tenure in Mauritius, a subject on which few studies are available apart from A. Macquet's Précis-terrier de file Maurice Port-Louis, 1887, now very much out of date.

A large chart of the world, on a plane scale highly ornamented, with the names in French. Probably executed in the time of Francis I of France for his son the Dauphin, afterwards Henry II. Shews the S. Indian Ocean with Madagascar & the Mascarene Islands. This map is dated c. 1536 in the B. M. Catalogue of Ms Maps and similarly by Coote in 1898, but Coote's arguments were challenged by Mr. HARRISSE in 1899 who showed that it could not be earlier than 1542. A. Anthiaume (Cartes marines ... 1916) sets out the evidence for dating it between 1542 and 1546. Hence the suggested date c. 1544.
